MR. VEERASITH SINCHAREONKUL

TRA PRESIDENT

The Thai Rubber Association (TRA), established in 1951, currently comprises 40 members, including producers and exporters of rubber processing products such as Ribbed Smoked Sheets (RSS), Standard Thai Rubber (STR), and concentrated latex. These members represent approximately 85% of Thailand's rubber production and exports. Over the past 74 years, the Thai Rubber Association has continually expanded its activities and remained committed to ongoing development.

Under the leadership of Mr. Veerasith Sinchareonkul, the Thai Rubber Association (TRA) is committed to continuously advancing the organization by adhering to the following key policies: 1) Operating on the principles of transparency and good governance; 2) Cooperating with government agencies and the private sector at both local and international levels; 3) Fostering close relationships with other rubber-producing countries; 4) Acting as an intermediary to facilitate cooperation between manufacturers and consumers, including resolving issues in the rubber business for the mutual benefit of all parties;

5) Strengthening collaboration and relationships among association members to support the sustainable development of the rubber industry; 6) Providing timely and relevant information to members to strengthen their operations and competitiveness; 7) Promoting a positive image of the Thai Rubber Association to ensure it is well-regarded and enhancing the global reputation of Thai rubber in the international market; and 8) Transitioning to a digital and modernized organization, such as by utilizing online media, striving to become paperless, and emphasizing the use of clean energy (e.g., installing solar panels at the Thai Rubber Association office). In addition, the Thai Rubber Association (TRA) is honored to serve as the Chairman and Executive Secretary of the International Rubber Association (IRA) for the term 2025–2026. TRA also holds key roles as a member of the ASEAN Rubber Business Council, a committee member of the International Tripartite Rubber Council, and a member of the board of directors of the International Rubber Consortium Limited (IRCo).

The current TRA committee is honored and grateful to have been entrusted by TRA members with the responsibility of managing a private rubber organization of international significance. On behalf of the Thai Rubber Association committee, I wish to express my sincere thanks to all the association's members and relevant parties for their support and contributions to the development of the association, which have led to its remarkable success.

Mr. Veerasith Sinchareonkul
President
The Thai Rubber Association

TRA HISTORY

THE THAI RUBBER ASSOCIATION

สมาคมยางพาราไทย

泰國橡膠總會

Established in 1951, the Thai Rubber Association (TRA) currently comprises 40 processing and exporting member companies. Together, these enterprises produce and export about 80% of Thailand's total natural rubber production in various forms, including Technically Specified Rubber, Concentrated Latex, Ribbed Smoked Sheet, Compound, and Mixture Rubber. Recognized by the government, the Association is respected by the public sector as a central organization facilitating communication and collaboration between the government and the private sector.

BACKGROUND

On March 5, 1951, the Thai Rubber Association was established by early traders under the name of 'The Rubber Traders Association of Thailand.' Its objectives were to serve as the central organization for companies comprising rubber producers and traders, fostering cooperation between them, as well as acting as the central entity for government agencies to contact the group and discuss or negotiate matters of common interest.

From that humble beginning, the Association has also been the driving force in pushing innovative activities concerning career development along with upgrading its members' standards of business administration.

The main purpose of the establishment of the Association at the beginning was to solve problems due to the non-regulated trade that lacked any rules and regulations. Buyers and sellers were free to trade and thus could satisfy their own needs and wishes without considering the impact on the trading as a whole. Understandably, there were problems with poor-quality goods as well as difficulties for contractors who did not follow or abide by contracts. This occasionally resulted in lengthy disputes and harmed the trade and its traders.

BACKGROUND

Consequently, a gathering of rubber traders calling themselves "The Rubber Traders Association of Thailand" was formed with the primary objectives of eliminating unfair trading and supporting its honest trading members following formulated rules and regulations.

The office was appropriately located at the Bangkok Chamber of Commerce. The first meeting of the association was conducted on March 5, 1951. In its formative years, there were already 15 members, including both ordinary members and special members.

It took the Association almost two decades to become a regular member of the Thai Chamber of Commerce. On the 29th of February 1968, the permit to become a trade association was given by the registrar of the Government Authority. The office was relocated to 57 Soi Rong Muang 5, Rong Muang Road, Pathumwan District, Bangkok under the name "The Thai Rubber Traders' Association".

DEVELOPMENT

Rubber production in Thailand increased not only because of strong demand from the world market but was also stimulated strongly through the replanting program of the Thai Government from 1961 onwards. This resulted indirectly in the establishment of rubber processing factories and rubber trading companies. As these professional groups needed to be in close contact with the farmers and plantation owners, their activities spread throughout the rubber-growing area in Southern Thailand.

The number of members of the Thai Rubber Traders' Association has, therefore, increased and presently comprises 40 leading companies. Some of these companies are rubber processors while others are traders.

MOVING TO THE SOUTH

With the main town of Hatyai in Southern Thailand becoming a full-blown commercial centre, and with the establishment of the Deep-Sea Port in Songkhla, there was good reason to have the Association moved to the south. Not only is that the main rubber growing area with many rubber factories and intensive transport and trading activities, it is also close to our neighbor country Malaysia, the then world's third biggest producer and exporter. In 1992, the Association moved to the town of Hatyai, Songkhla Province, and founded its office at 4/14 Thepsongkraw Rd.

In 1993, its members agreed to change the Association's name to the "Thai Rubber Association". In the following year, the office was moved to a more appropriate property: 45, 47 Chotevittayakul 3 Road, Hatyai, Songkhla, its current seat.

OBJECTIVES

- (1) To promote the trading of natural rubber;
- (2) To encourage and help members to solve problems and overcome obstacles, this includes entering into negotiations with persons outside the Association, for mutual benefit in the trading of natural rubber; and conducting intelligence studies on the natural rubber markets, both domestic and foreign, for the benefit of the natural rubber trade;
- (3) To conduct research on the natural rubber trading and to exchange and disseminate technical information and knowledge on the natural rubber trade;
- (4) To collect statistical or documental or other information concerning rubber trade from all members but with the consent of members concerned;
- (5) To promote the standardization of rubber qualities; to research and improve on the processes of smoking, grading, powdering, packing as well as marketing;
- (6) To co-operate with the Government in the promotion of natural rubber trade;

OBJECTIVES

- (7) To seek agreement or to establish rules of conduct for members to observe to ensure efficient conducting of the natural rubber trade;
- (8) To arbitrate in any conflict between members themselves or between members and person, or persons outside the association in matters related to the natural rubber trade;
- (9) To abstain from political activities;
- (10) To own an immovable property by buying or receiving with fascination or being donated in order to run all activities of the Association;
- (11) To publish monthly news distributed to members and others;
- (12) To organize activities in order to get an income; for example: Annual Dinner and Golf Tournament;
- (13) To arrange conferences and seminars, both in the Country and abroad;

OBJECTIVES

- (14) To participate as a member of other associations, both in the Country and abroad;
- (15) To donate or support any activities of the other associations within the Country and abroad;
- (16) To obtain the annual membership subscription fee, the extraordinary subscription fee, donation fee from members, and general people;
- (17) To proceed with any matter depending on the agreement and assignment of the meeting.
